Look, No Microphones!

Our title, "No Microphones," might be misleading. What we intend to convey is that SoundAround can capture external sounds beyond the car cabin, without relying on "external" microphones. This is a boon for sound acquisition, particularly for detecting emergency vehicle sirens in both conventional and autonomous vehicles, since traditional external microphones face extremely harsh conditions. Consequently, SoundAround offers substantial advantages in terms of cost-effectiveness, reliability, and ease of implementation. Moreover, SoundAround seamlessly complements dashcams by enhancing their functionality with the capability to capture external sounds.
